SRM Number: 613

SRM Name: Trace Elements in Glass

Under the U.S. Department of Labor, Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) 29 CFR 1910.1200, this Standard Reference Material (SRM) is NOT classified as a physical hazard or a health hazard, a simple asphyxiant, combustible dust, pyrophoric gas, or hazard not otherwise classified. There are no hazard pictograms, hazard statements or signal word associated with it. Safety Data Sheet information is not required. This document may be used in conjunction with your hazard communication program.

This material is formed to a specific shape or design during manufacture which under normal conditions of use does not release more than very small quantities, e.g., minute or trace amounts of a hazardous chemical (as determined under paragraph (d) of 1910.1200), and does not pose a physical hazard or health risk to employees.

Description: This Standard Reference Material (SRM) is intended to facilitate development of chemical methods of analysis for trace elements in glass. The nominal mass fractions of 61 elements added to the glass matrix are in the range of 10 mg/kg to 80 mg/kg. A unit of SRM 613 consists of four wafers, sliced to 1 mm thickness from a hand pulled rod. The wafers are of oval to circular cross section with nominal diameter of 12 mm to 14 mm.

Disposal: SRM 613 components and derived solutions should be disposed of in accordance with local, state, and federal regulations.

Transport Information: This material is not regulated by the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) and/or International Air Transportation Association (IATA).

Disclaimer: This document was prepared carefully, using current references. Users of this SRM should ensure that this document and the corresponding Certificate of Analysis in their possession are current. This can be accomplished by contacting the SRM Program: telephone (301) 975-2200; fax (301) 948-3730; e-mail srmmsds@nist.gov; or via the Internet at <http://www.nist.gov/srm>.
